Mr. Johan Prevot

Johan Prevot has worked in the healthcare sector for 16 years in the field of health policy and patient advocacy.

Currently Mr. Prevot is the Executive Director of the International Patient Organisation for Primary Immunodeficiencies (IPOPI). As such he is responsible for the management and growth of IPOPI's global activities, health policy advocacy campaigns and the strengthening of IPOPI's national member organisations network.

Johan Prevot has throughout his career been an advocate for improving patient access to early diagnosis and treatment in the field of rare plasma related disorders which include conditions such as primary immunodeficiencies, haemophilia and alpha 1 antitrypsin deficiency among others. He is a Steering Committee Member of the Platform of Plasma Products Users (PLUS), a Board member of Health First Europe and a Steering Committee Member of the European Reference Network for Rare Immunological and Auto-Inflammary Disorders. Previous to his position at IPOPI, Johan Prevot worked as Director of Health Policy Europe for the Plasma Protein Therapeutics Association (PPTA), a trade association in the field of plasma-derived medicinal products.

Access to diagnosis and treatment for primary immunodeficiencies and other rare plasma related disorders varies greatly from country to country and many people living with these conditions in developing countries still nowadays can not access their life enhancing and/or life saving therapies. Mr Prevot has and continues to work closely with other stakeholder organisations sharing common objectives and priorities.
