

AGENDA

City-Labs Talk Series “Applications of AI in health: to solve societal challenges or to become one?”

Monday, 9th July 2018 from 17.30 to 19.00 at lo Sono Wine Bar (Rue du Trône 62, 1050 Bruxelles).

City-Labs Talk Series Applications of AI in health: to solve societal challenges or to become one?
Debate moderated by Wes Himes, Managing Partner at Instinctif Partners Introducing the topic and the speakers 17:40 – 17:45
Contributions by key speakers
17:45 – 17:55 Costica Dumbrava Programme Officer, EU policies in eHealth and Ageing Policy, European Commission	A European approach on Artificial Intelligence and Data-Driven Healthcare <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Overview of the EU actions on digital health (specifically AI) • AI potentials to personalize and optimize health services
17:55 – 18:05 Jelena Malinina Digital Health Policy Officer, The European Consumer Organisation (BEUC)	How AI could redefine patient’s experience and what are the key ethical and legal challenges <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Presentation of the patients’ perspective • Shortcoming or undesirable consequences on the health outcomes
18:05 – 18:15 Damian Gruson Chef du Service de Biochimie Médicale, Cliniques Universitaires Saint-Luc, Coordinator of the City-Labs project	Digital and data-driven revolution in city-labs <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Discuss the application of digital technology into clinical laboratory • Presentation of the City-Labs project
18:15 – 18:50 Open debate and networking cocktails The discussion will be divided into 3 topics / groups: Data and health AI and patient perspective Clinical laboratory and patients’ experience
18:50 – 19:00 Concluding remark by the Moderator	